Frequently Asked Questions :

Q. Do all projects get published?
A. All our projects go through a curatorial process after receiving. Our team of curators select the best of the projects to be published on our website. Everything you come across on The Architect's Diary, has been carefully selected and curated so that it can give trustworthy, reliable and inspiring ideas to our Community.

Q. When can we get a revert on our Submitted Project?
A. Within the Week of Project Submission in our Inbox. However, if you do not get a revert please wait as we do get an overwhelming amount of projects everyday. You will get a revert regardless of anything sooner or later.

Q. Do all of my submitted pictures get published?
A. No. We have our publishing team who selects the best out of the pictures shared. Rest assured your project will be showcased in the best possible manner doing justice to it's design essence.

Q. Is it necessary to share all the pictures of the project?
A. No. Please share pictures which justify the project's essence. Maximum of 20 pictures can be shared of a particular project. If there is a requirement of more pictures we will specify it to you in the email revert.

Q. Do we need to take permission from all the agencies involved in the Project before publishing?
A. Yes, please make sure that all agencies involved in the project know that their project is being published as we give Credits accordingly.

Q. Do we decide the order of photographs published?
A. We have an entire team who focuses on the way every project is published. You can trust us with the order of your project material publication.

Q. Do we get to see the project before it gets published?
A. We are unable to share the project in preview mode before it gets published. However, we have a greatly polished team working towards curating the best of the Project.

Q. Do our projects get published in E.Book?
A. Curation for E.Book is a separate procedure altogether. If your project is published on our website, chances are that your project can be shortlisted for E.Book.

Q. What if we spot a mistake in our project publication?

A. There can be minor errors sometimes as humans tend to make mistakes, however please make sure that we do upload the content that you provide us, hence the content from your end should be checked thoroughly before sending it to us. In that case you can email us editorthearchitectsdiary@gmail.com stating the error, and our team will resolve it at the soonest.
